

Earthenware Mark E9

Several variations of printed DAVENPORT marks have been recorded with odd new ones turning up in other countries every now and again, suggesting they may be export marks used on specific transfer printed patterns.

The earliest ones may date from as early as 1810 but most appear to have been used in the period 1830 to about 1860.

Please send details of new ones.

